

KENTUCKIANS START BOOM FOR BURTON

Conference of Bluegrass Republicans Launches Candidacy of Former Ohio Senator.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 12.—The boom for the Presidential nomination of former United States Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, was launched at a conference of the Kentucky Republicans here last night.

The meeting was attended by members of the Republican State central committee and prominent party leaders from every section of the State were summoned to the gathering. While ostensibly called to consider the party future in this State, the conference had for its main purpose the consideration of the attitude of Kentucky Republicans toward Presidential possibilities and the right line-up in the ante-convention fight next spring.

Former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, always has a strong following with Kentucky Republicans, and it was supposed that when he came here and took an active part in the recent State campaign he was destined to be the beneficiary of Kentucky's vote in the Republican national convention. But many of the Republican party leaders in Kentucky take the position that they want to get behind what they term "a winner," and for that reason will support the candidacy of the Ohio statesman.

The managers of the Burton propaganda have been quietly, but actively, at work, and they have built up a strong sentiment in every section of the State for the candidacy of the Ohio man.

Maurice L. Galvin, of Covington, Ky., who was the campaign manager in the recent fight, is the leader of the Burton forces.

The seventh district, however, will send a Fairbanks delegate to the national convention, and a delegation similarly instructed to the State convention. This district comprises Lexington and most of the blue grass section.

F. B. McGUIRE TO BE BURIED TOMORROW

Funeral Services to Be Held in Main Hall of Corcoran Art Gallery.

Funeral services for Frederick B. McGuire, director of the Corcoran Gallery of Art, who died yesterday, will be held in the main hall of that institution tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, the Rev. Charles T. Warner, rector of St. Alban's E. Church, officiating.

As a mark of respect to the late director, the art gallery will not be opened tomorrow, except for the funeral service. The active hallkeepers will be employees of the gallery whose association with Mr. McGuire was intimate. Philip A. Ryan, Joseph K. Barend, O. D. Dunnington, Joseph C. Mason, Frank C. Flemming, Benjamin V. Darrell, and W. B. Hunter have been named.

The honorary pallbearers will be Charles C. Glover, William C. Eustis, Thomas Hyde, Gen. John M. Wilson, Henry White, Powell Jennings, E. J. Stellwagen, Thomas N. Gale, Richard N. Brooke, Rear Admiral J. E. Pillsbury, and Edward W. Redfield. The first six are trustees of the gallery, and Mr. Brooke is vice principal of the art school.

Mr. McGuire's death occurred at his home, 1333 Connecticut avenue northwest. He was seventy-seven years old, and is survived by his widow, who is a sister of the late Rear Admiral Taylor. Interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Dear Sir:—Some little time ago I bought a pair of gymnasium shoes. A friend of mine recommended me to Walford's, 509 1/2 Ave. N. W. After reading an advertisement in the Washington Times I decided to try a pair of his shoes. Afterward I found them to be of first-class material and are of low price.

Dear Sir:—I had my special parlor suite upholstered at the U. S. Upholstering Co., 428 10th st., the other day and it was surprising how nice it looked, and how well it was made. In many places the woodwork was scratched and dented, but upon its return it was only after a very careful examination that it could be told from new and the charges were most reasonable. I highly recommend them. Yours truly, MRS. HARVEY.
